

Hiding

Wanda Viola

Were you hiding in a corner far away from where they'd find you?
Were you trembling in a closet wishing you could disappear?
Oh, you were so very little, yet you wished that you were smaller
As you held your bunny closer, tiny comfort from your fear.
How can people sin against the lovely children God created
Violating them without a tear?

Little child, I hear you crying, buried deep within your prison.
Satan wants to keep you captive one more hour, one more year.
First, he wounded you so deeply. Now he wants to keep you running
From the truth about your terror and the pain that was severe.
Jesus is the Door that leads us out of darkness into healing
As you walk with Jesus, He'll stay near.

Come to Jesus, little child. See the love within His eyes.
He gently welcomes you and leads you into truth.
Quietly He waits for you. Tenderly He calls to you. (2X)

Sweet, little innocent girl

Wanda Viola

She was a sweet, little, innocent girl
Who with singing woke the morning,
And her sweet, little, trusting eyes
Gazed at him with such adoring.

Yet now she is crying. Will she ever trust again?
Inside she is dying. Will she ever give her heart again?

So long she suffered in silence alone.
Who would understand her grieving?
Who was there who would listen to her
And would trust her word, believing?

Chorus

Where is a place that is safe and secure?
Where is tenderness and healing?
Where is someone who's ready to hear
What her trembling heart is feeling?

How can one who's broken ever learn to trust again?
Inside to be healed, finding hope to give her heart again.

Someone. Someone. Where is the one she can trust?
I know One. Such a One! His name is Jesus. (2X)

I was a child

Wanda Viola

I was a child. You were a man.
I was so little when all this began.
You hurt me deeply, wounded my soul.
Now that I'm grown will I ever be whole?

My little heart bore pain that was great.
What does a child do with such a weight?
Who would I go to? Who would believe?
Who'd see my sadness and bring me relief ?

You hurt me in ways you'll never know.
How was I to know the way to go?

Now that I'm older, I've grown to be
Tender with children when they come to me.
I want them joyful, trusting, and kind,
Feeling secure as their hearts trust in mine.

Let's love them so they will always know
Love that's pure as on their way they go.

Teachers and uncles, grandpas and dads,
When little children come sit on your laps,
Hug them and kiss them with hearts of gold.
Never betray the trust that you enfold.

Lord, teach us to love Your precious ones,
Purely love Your daughters and Your sons.

Lord, teach us to love Your precious ones,
Purely love Your daughters and Your sons.

Are you frightened and alarmed?

Jesus, do You really love me?

Wanda Viola

Child:

Jesus, do You really love me? Really love me?
If Your eyes look into mine, what pain You'll see!
I'm afraid You'll scorn me or laugh at all my fears.
I'm not so sure You'll understand a heart that's full of tears.

Man (Jesus):

Oh, My child, I really love you, really love you.
I'm aware of all the pain that you've been through.
When you share your heartache, you'll see that I have tears.
It grieves My heart they left you so, alone with many fears.

Jesus, I still wonder if I'm really to blame.
Oh, I feel so bad inside with guilt and shame.
I'm afraid to trust You. You know how hard I've tried!
Just as I start to open up, I panic, then I hide.

O My child, please come to Me. I'll never blame you.
How could one as small as you know what to do?
It was not your fault, dear. Please bring to Me your shame.
I died for you that you might find sweet cleansing in My name.

Musical Bridge

Jesus, I'm beginning to believe You love me.
But it's hard to trust Your love with all I've seen.
If I could make wishes, I'd wish that on this morn
You'd sweep me up into Your arms and love me evermore.

O my child, I really love you. Please believe Me!
I made you a special way, so beautifully.
Please keep trying to trust Me amidst the raging storm.
Just rest within My shepherd's arms, they're gentle, tender, warm.

Ending

As you trust Me fully your eyes will start to shine.
Your eyes will start to shine.
You'll know that I am truly yours and you are truly Mine.

Under Your wings

You carried me

She couldn't come and hold me tight,
You carried me.
When she felt pain, You felt it too.
When she was weak, what did You do?
You carried me.

O Jesus, You carried me,
With arms of love you wrapped me close.
You carried me.
O Jesus, You carried me,
Your tears fell down, You knew my pain.
You carried me.
You carried me.

She gave me all that she could give.

She cried to You, both day and night.

You carried me.

I'll trust You

Wanda Viola

I'll trust You.

I'll let You take me by the hand.

I'll trust You.

I know that You will understand

all of my fears,

sadness that holds me.

My dearest Friend, You made me and You chose me.

Jesus, come here. Jesus, come near.

May I trust Your leading, may I hear Your voice,

As I walk beside You sharing Your joy.

May I trust Your leading, may I hear Your voice,

As I walk beside You sharing Your joy.
